

My daily Confession

I am daughter of the Living God, co-heir and seated in heavenly places with Christ Jesus. Everything that God assigned to me by His Word, I take as my own personal possession. It is mine!

I am the righteousness of God, a new creation made perfect by the Blood of Jesus. I hear and promptly obey the voice the Holy Spirit, who guides me into favorable circumstances. The fruit of the Spirit permeates my life and the blessing of God overtakes me. I forgive others because the Father has forgiven me.

I am a Queen in this world. I know what the Word says about what is mine, and I have been given legal authority to use the Name of Jesus Christ, and in His name I call down and condemn disobedient powers, principalities, or circumstances that contradict with God's will for my life as revealed in His Word. I am an Ambassador of the KING, declaring His reign, and giving glory to the Father who does the work of enforcement. I declare His Word, God the Father ensures it is carried out.

I am a believer, not a doubter. My tithe and seed are at work to produce a bountiful harvest of prosperity in every area of my life. I am debt free, and my short and long term finances are always increasing as I lay up a generous financial inheritance for my children and grandchildren. My business prospers and profits under the favor of God, who gives me favor among men that includes loyal clients, best in class suppliers, and strong referrals. The Holy Spirit provides instruction and advantage for me with equitable business negotiations, and wise counsel from others. The increasing success of my businesses is a testimony to the blessing, and provides multiplied seed for sowing. I sow every day, and I reap every day – because great grace is upon me.

My physical safety and health are defended by the Word of the Lord. I am not afraid of the curse upon this world, for I go from strength to strength and neither sickness, disease, allergies, excess weight nor any other spiritual, physical, or emotional ailment is permitted to exist on my body. I honor the temple of the Lord by making wise choices about what I eat and drink. My youth is restored with a strong and fit body, and I will bear fruit in my old age, staying fresh and green to declare the faithfulness of God.

And what the Lord has declared for me is true for my family, all of which have made Jesus Christ their personal Lord and Savior. My bloodline is raised on the Word of faith, and is diligent to speak Life over themselves and their circumstances. The blessing overtakes my children and seed line, and all that the Lord has declared shall come to pass now.
